RETHINKING FAMILY DYNAMICS IN DISEASE MANAGEMENT

LIBBY RICHARDS

INTERIM HEAD & PROFESSOR
SCHOOL OF NURSING

At this year's CFF Fellowship Lecture Libby Richards, PhD, 2018 Ann Hancock Faculty Fellow, will explore the role family dynamics play in disease management.

Her research efforts focus on understanding and intervening on the individual and interpersonal influences on physical activity behavior, including examination of dyadic relationships in physical activity promotion and community-based interventions.
