The Kanter Award raises awareness of excellent work-family research, fosters debate about standards of excellence, identifies the “best of the best” studies on which to base future research, and outlines specific implications of the research for work-life and human resource professionals.

Named in honor of Rosabeth Moss Kanter, who has been identified as the most influential contributor to modern literature on work and family, the Kanter Award is given for the best research paper(s) published during the year. The rigorous award process typically involves over 70 scholarly reviewers from all over the world who decide on the Kanter winners from over 5,000 articles published in over 60 scholarly journals. No applications or nominations are accepted.
